Tracie Hotchner: Your Pets Best Friend & FMAR's Too!

When listeners of Martha Stewart Living Radio have a question about caring for their cats (or dogs), they turn to best-selling author and radio personality Tracie Hotchner, host of CAT CHAT on the Sirius / XM Satellite Radio Network. FMAR has been blessed to have gained the support of Tracie after she learned of our rescue/shelter efforts from one of her regular listeners.

Tracie brought the keen eye of her background as an investigative reporter to author two encyclopedic books on pets, "THE DOG BIBLE: Everything your Dog Wants You to Know," and "THE CAT BIBLE: Everything Your Cat Expects You to Know." Both books are complete care guides covering topics such as, medical issues, training, nutrition, problem solving and much more.

Tracie has established herself as a foremost pet wellness advocate, exposing a number of startling revelations about pet nutrition and the effects of the over-all health and well-being of dogs and cats.

Tracie also has a "mini-empire" of weekly live radio programs, all of them dealing with dog and cat wellness issues. She interviews experts in the field, authors of books about animals, and takes callers' questions on the air. CAT CHAT® is on Wednesday nights on the Martha Stewart channel of SiriusXM satellite radio – DOG TALK & CAT CHAT® is on Saturday nights on WOR 710 AM in New York City, and her first show, DOG TALK® on NPR station WLIU 88.3 FM from Southampton New York won a prestigious Gracie Award in 2010 for "Outstanding Host of an Entertainment/Information show on public radio.

In addition to her weekly live radio shows, Tracie travels across the country giving talks on nutrition to pet lovers ("You're Feeding Your Pet, WHAT?!") and offering herself as 'a bridge between consumers and providers' in talking to student in veterinary colleges from Tufts to Virginia Tech and UC Davis, with her presentation "Fur Parents - Managing the Two-Legged Client."

Tracie was instrumental in securing an 800 can donation of Soulistic from PETCO for FMAR. Thanks to Tracie, FMAR caught the eye of PETCO's Vice President of Merchandise Innovation who arranged for the most generous donation. Tracie also worked her match making magic with the good folks at HALO who donated huge cases of all natural pet treats and meal supplements for the animals living at FMAR.

A special thank you to Tracie Hotchner for her continued support.

MEET TRACIE HOTCHNER

Tracie will be making her first Michigan appearance at PETCO in Westland, Michigan on April 18th to give her presentation, "You're Feeding Your Pet, WHAT?!"

A book signing will follow the event. Books will be available for purchase.

The event is FREE and open to the public, benefiting FMAR.

It is hard to believe the first quarter of 2010 has come and gone, and that FMAR is celebrating it's 7th year. We have come so very far and yet there is still so much more to do. Our growth has been amazing and yet there are times when it feels as if progress slows to a crawl. Our hope is that our supporters are pleased with what we have accomplished and where we are headed.

I would like to send out special congratulations to Dr. Dhaliwal and his staff for their continued growth as well. When we were first introduced to Dr. Dhaliwal as a potential veterinary partner we were both fairly new to our respective communities, and today we are both growing and proud to service our communities and their pets. In fact, Dr. Dhaliwal has grown to 5 clinic locations the staff proudly named TLC Pet Vet Animal Hospitals, where you will find late night and weekend hours at affordable prices. More information on all of the TLC Pet Vet Animal Hospitals can be found in this newsletter and on our website at www.fmar1.org.

Taking a look back at FMAR, I can remember when Pete and I were stacking kennels in our family room in a home that we loved and enjoyed with our family. Today our house is not quite so nice but we have a shelter filled with animals and another in process of being ready to help more animals than we ever dreamed we would. Our first barn started with dirt floor and a couple of horse stalls. Now it hosts 9 inside/outside dog kennels, a community cat room, teen cat room and even a small area for our kittens. Soon after completing renovation of the first barn we concentrated on adding our community cat room so our felines could live in a more homey, open setting. The third addition added a much needed laundry, restroom, and storage areas.

Now we are in the next phase of actually giving our dogs and cats space they can call their own. This will be our grandest accomplishment to date. It will make our facility safer for potentially dangerous dog and cat interactions and give us more room to house twice as many animals as we do today, as well as give more room to isolate the animals who need extra care.

We owe our success to our supporters, volunteers and a faith in God to get us through anything we believe in.

Our capital campaign is in full swing and we are determined to have our felines and dogs in their new and/or improved facilities by the time the leaves drop from the trees in the fall. You are all invited and encouraged to visit our new and improved website www.fmar1.org for updates on the barn renovations as well as pictures and videos of our adoptable pets, ways to help FMAR that won't cost you a dime, and companies that have partnered with FMAR to bring you quality merchandise at affordable prices while giving a little something back to FMAR for your purchases. Our e-news is great too, so if you aren't currently on our e-mail list you can sign up for our e-news on our website as well.

VOLUNTEER PROFILE

Janice Logue

THANK YOU GIRL SCOUTS!

It was just about two years ago when our cat population soared out of control and FMAR was in desperate need of more daytime cat people. Our volunteer coordinator Eileen (affectionately known as Weezey) was great at finding just the right person at the perfect time so we weren't too worried. We would just do the best we could until someone special showed up to help.

April is the time of year when people are ready to get out and do something new. Flowers and just starting to bud, and of course kitten season is in full swing. It was a beautiful day in April of 2008 when Janice Logue walked into the shelter and said she had come to volunteer her time. As soon as she walked in we knew she would be the person we needed to jump in, learn quickly, and get down to business. Janice has three cats of her own so she was a great fit indeed. In fact by the second week it was as if Janice had always been a part of our team. She knew where everything was and she did her best to give meaning to "a place for everything and everything in its place." In fact she became famous for her notes and great communication.

Pete doesn't worry at all about the cats when Janice is there because he knows she can handle giving medications, and is always willing and anxious to learn new things. When a situation arises that she needs help with she stays calm and takes charge. After Janice had been with us for about a year she became a person we went to for help with some of our events as well. She would sell tickets, greet people, and dig in wherever she was needed.

FMAR is blessed to have Janice as part of our team and we hope she is able to stay with us for many more years to come. We appreciate her dedication and love of animals, and her helpful, get it done attitude.

Thank you Janice!

Special thanks to the Belleville Service Unit Girl Scout groups who collected and donated pet food and supplies to help all of the animals of Friends of Michigan Animals Rescue. Your support and generosity is appreciated. We would like to extend a special thank you to Ashley and mom Lori for delivering and being a special part of FMAR.

We would also like to thank Girl Scout Troop 41332 for visiting the shelter, bringing donations and making the cutest catnip mice out of baby socks. It was a pleasure having you visit. Thank you: Chelsey, Negth, Hailey, Savannah, Riley, Madison, Rylie, MacKenzie, Holly, Autumn, Abby, Elizabeth, and Samantha.

This month, our pet profiles remember some of the animals that entered our lives at the shelter and unfortunately, did not survive long enough to find the loving homes they deserved. Their passing is not a failure; rather a reminder that we must always do what we can to protect and care for our pets for a long and healthy life.

This article is dedicated to all of the people who love and care for animals with special needs. FMAR is using this newsletter to honor some of our special needs animals who have gone over the bridge and now living in peace with their maker. This particular story is about two very sweet baby kittens we affectionately named Taffy and Tiger.

There was a knock on the shelter door and behind the door stood a gentleman holding two tiny tortoise shell kittens in his arms. I don't think they weighed over a pound each and they were definitely not ready to be away from mom. The gentleman who brought them said that they were found in the park without a mom and the township suggested that he bring them to us to see if we had room for them.

We fixed up a spot in our isolation kitten kennels and heated up a warming disc for them to curl up on while we fixed breakfast for them. They were both unsure of what to do with the feast we had prepared for them at first, but with a little coaxing it didn't take long for them to catch on and learn how to eat. We estimated their age at about 4 weeks and they were so small we kept them in isolation for about a week before transferring them to a larger space where they could start to move around and play a bit. They seemed really active but seemed to be growing at a slow pace. We accredited their slow growth to not having a mom to nurse them and didn't think much more about it.

Once we estimated that they were about 10 weeks old we began the regimen of testing and giving them their first vaccination. We were devastated when their Feluk/FIV test results came back positive for Feline Leukemia. Although we know a cat can live many healthy years with Feline Leukemia we also knew that this was a disease that compromises their immune system and was contagious to the other cats in the shelter. They would have to be isolated from the other cats and if we needed to find them a home where their immune systems would be at less risk of infection than in a kennel situation. So far they were acting very healthy so we decided to wait a couple of weeks, keep them in our prayers, and test them again. The results were the same. Not wanting to give up yet, we waited another 2 weeks and tested again....positive results. This was when we realized that no matter how many times we tested they had feline leukemia and we would need to keep them isolated until we could find them a home without any other cats.

Estimated DOB: 7/3/09
Taffy passed: 12/15/09
Tiger Passed: 1/4/10

We knew isolation kennels would be way too small for them to live in the rest of their lives so we kept them in the larger kitten kennels away from the other felines where they were given extra special attention. Tiger grew at a faster pace than Taffy but they were both very active and needed more space to stretch and move around.

We decided to give them one of our adult kennels that we could close off from the other cats and at the same time, give them room to climb, jump and be active kittens. For a while they both seemed to be doing great and then Taffy caught an upper respiratory infection and we lost her within a couple of days.

Tiger was still a solid fat little girl who would climb to the top of the kennel and peer out at everyone with the look of pure joy on her face. It was a couple of weeks later when we noticed Tiger was getting an eye infection. We put her on antibiotics and interferon to boost her immune system right away. She seemed to be responding but in a couple of days she quit climbing and stayed in her bed sleeping and not eating. We took her to the vet to see if there was something we could do to help her, but she lost her battle and Tiger is now with her sister Taffy.

Even though we know we did everything possible to keep them healthy while we searched for a home for both Taffy and Tiger, we knew a kennel was just not the place for an animal with an immune deficiency. One thing we are sure of is that Taffy and Tiger knew they were loved. They spent many happy hours at the shelter being held, brushed and spoiled. They received great nutrition and medical care until they lost their battle with life. Usually kittens born from a mom with feline leukemia don't make it and maybe their mom knew they would not survive, especially born outside so she abandoned them, we will probably never know. We were hopeful that we would find a family who would be willing to give these girls a new home no matter how short their lifespan would turn out to be, but thinking about it, they did have a great home at FMAR.

Thank you to all of the volunteers who had a part in caring for these beautiful kittens. You did a fantastic job and both Taffy and Tiger thank you for your compassion, dedication and love.

You can find more information on Feline Leukemia and FeLuk at <http://www.vet.cornell.edu/fhc/resources/brochure/felv.html>

There are times when even the best doctors and tons of love and care can't save those we care about. This story is in memory of Mork and dedicated to all of the families and volunteers who have loved and cared for the special needs animals that fought hard but in the end lost their battles.

Mork was very special to all of us who knew him for so many reasons, but I think the biggest reason was his determination to protect and love his best friend Mindy. For months Mork was seen eating out of garbage cans, running in the cemetery and dashing off into the woods whenever anyone would try to get close to him. A short time later that we discovered he had an accomplice who we named Mindy. Mindy would wait patiently at the back of the cemetery for Mork to bring food and then together they would disappear into the woods. Mindy looked much healthier than Mork who was emaciated and obviously in need of care. A neighbor finally caught both of them by putting out a trail of treats until they finally made it close enough for him to contain them. He said, "All you had to do is catch the lady and the gent was sure to follow".

Mork: 6/2008 - 1/2010

Once they were both secure in this gentleman's greenhouse we gathered them up and took them back to the shelter where the spoiling and loving began. Even though Mork was emaciated he didn't seem to want to eat and he was coughing. Mindy would eat little bites, but she didn't act like she was starving despite the fact that she had a very large belly. With both of their symptoms familiar to us, worry set in the first day, as all of us were thinking the same thing....HEARTWORM DISEASE.

Mork had already developed the cough so we decided to do testing right away, and sure enough they both tested positive for heartworm disease. Pete immediately called the vet and took them in for an exam. Full blood work and urinalysis was done to see if there were any other problems and we found that Mindy's symptoms included mild liver disease. The slide showed that the heartworm disease had progressed further than anything Dr. Dhaliwal had ever seen in his years of practice, in fact the slide was covered with the evidence. It was going to be a long dangerous process and if they survived the first treatment they would need to go through it all again in a month.

We knew Mork was the weakest but we would have to keep a close eye on both of them for signs of stress, cough, or lack of appetite. We put Mork on antibiotics and cough tabs right away. We offered them both any aromatic foods and treats we could find including, home cooked food, canned cat food and anything else in between we could think of. Within a day Mindy started to cough so we immediately put her on antibiotics, and she continued to eat small meals.

Mindy: 6/2008 - 2/2010

After two days we took Mork back to the vet where he was put on IV's right away. At first he responded by trying to remove the IV but was still refusing to eat. The next day he still acted as if he would keep fighting, but on the third day Mork gave up the battle and we lost him to heartworm disease. It was devastating for all of us. We had come to love this wonderful natured and loving dog. You could see in his face that he was so happy to be getting attention and love but you could see in his eyes that he was not feeling well.

Mindy seemed to be recovering and getting stronger each day. Her liver was even improving, however, her second treatment proved to be too much for her to handle and she too left us. Both Mork and Mindy loved children and were happiest when surrounded by people and other animals. We had hoped to help both of them get well and we feel blessed to have been able to be a part of both of their lives and show them the love they deserved even if it was for a very short time.

It cost about $5-10 a month to prevent heartworm disease and hundreds to possibly thousands of dollars to cure it if you catch it in time. For more information on heartworm disease please consult your veterinarian. A great resource for information can also be found at: <http://www.homevet.com/petcare/heartwor.html#prevent>

Dr. Dhaliwal said it wouldn't have mattered what we would have done, we could not have saved our dear friends Mork and Mindy. What we do know is that they had as much love and compassion as possible while they were with us. They will always have a special spot in the hearts of everyone who knew them at FMAR.

THANK YOU TO HITACHI AUTOMOTIVE

Thank you Hitachi Automotive Products and the Charitable Awards Committee (CAC) for their generous grant to FMAR

Last year a lady by the name of Judy Assenmacher came across the FMAR website and bought a copy of "Pet Pals". We appreciated her support and were excited that she was interested in learning about FMAR, but what blossomed from the purchase of "Pet Pals" is amazing.

After reading "Pet Pals" Judy visited FMAR at the Westland Petco. She brought along her dad's dog to have him micro chipped and to learn a little more about us. During the conversation Judy mentioned that someone she worked with spotted the book on her desk and asked her about us. Judy was so enthusiastic that the chair of the Hitachi CAC contacted FMAR to see if we might be interested in applying for a grant! We were so excited that we began tackling the grant request right away.

Thank you so much to the entire group who voted to award FMAR this very generous gift.

Special thanks to Judy Assenmacher and the CAC Committee including, Loretta Chatman, Tracy Wettach, Carol Salazar, David Bowden, Amanda Flannery, Fred Schwendenmann and everyone who helped make this possible for our shelter.

THANK YOU TO CLARK TOWERS

Thank you so much to Clark Towers for the generous donations collected during the 3rd annual pet food drive this year.

The animals had a great time visiting with everyone and we look forward to visiting again next year.

As you can imagine the medical bills to spay/neuter, vaccinate, test, micro chip, and give any animal that comes to stay at our shelter the added medical attention they may need is sometimes overwhelming, so our grant request to Hitachi was to help us to defray some of the medical costs of getting our adoptable animals ready for adoption.

Hitachi not only heard our plea, they invited FMAR to a luncheon where we were awarded a very generous check! In addition to the CAC check was a matching gifts check from Hitachi Automotive Products for the same amount!

As you will read in this newsletter the medical costs to treat heartworm disease and feline leukemia is more than most privately owned shelters would be able to handle, but with the help of groups and individuals like Hitachi CAC and Hitachi Automotive Products we will have the resources needed to continue helping every animal that comes to us live a healthier and happier life as well as support pets in need within our community.

LETTERS FROM HOME

It is hard to believe, but yesterday was the 1 year anniversary of Mello's adoption. How time passes by!

Within a month she was making herself at home - joining us in bed to snuggle the night through and racing around the house with Cassie her 'new' sister.

She is a hit with everyone who visits because of her unusual markings, gentle attitude and ready purr.

I've not lived with a cat with such a deep and loud expression of contentment. I like it!

Each night Mello and I play after dinner and should I take too long with the clean-up - she lets me know with a chirp and trot toward the play area. The longer it takes me, the louder the chirp becomes!

Whenever we return home from work or an outing, both are waiting at the door. Each has her own way of greeting us, both just as special.

This year we took both Cassie and Mello on vacation with us to a lake cottage. Neither care too much for travel in the carriers, but quiet down after an hour or so. They had so much fun going from window to window chipmunk and squirrel watching! Cassie was quite a fan of the screened in porch, but Mello was content to stay in the house.

When we last corresponded, you requested photos of the girls together. The best are when they sunbathe together or take an afternoon snooze.

If you have adopted a deserving pet from Friends of Michigan Animals Rescue, we'd love to hear from you and include your success story in our "Letters From Home."
